NOTE.

In publishing the following Guide, the object is to give the most full, and at the same time the most concise information obtainable. The work is in the form of an Itinerary, and divided into routes so arranged that everything specially worthy of attention is noticed. Our starting point is from the Battery, at the southern end of the city and the terminus or all Elevated Railroads.

area of 21 acres with green lawns and shady walks, by far the coolest spot in the city. Castle Garden stands within the limits of the park and was originally laid out as a rough fortification. In 1847 it was opened as a place of amusement and for a number of years was occupied as such.

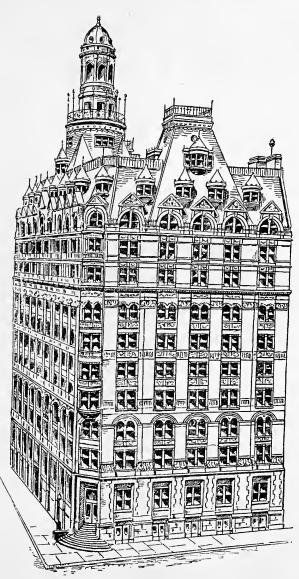

THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

In 1832-1843 Presidents Jackson and Tyler, were received here. September 11th, 1850, Jenny Lind made her first appearance in America in this building under the management of P. T. Barnum. It has been occupied as an emigrant landing depot since 1855. The European steamers bringing emigrants to this country transfer them to this depot, and after an examintion of their baggage they are forwarded to their destination. At the eastern end of the Park is the U. S. REVENUE BARGE OFFICE, which is built of granite, has a frontage of 105 ft. with tower rising from north-east corner 90 feet high. Ferry for Statue of Liberty leaves pier rear of the Barge Office. Ferry for Governor's Island adjoins, and in rotation are the Ferries to Staten Island and Bay Ridge, the South Ferries to Atlantic street and Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, and the new Ferries to 39th street. Brooklyn. Here also is the terminus of all Elevated roads, Broadway and Belt line horse cars. Passing up Whitehall Street, the first object worthy of notice is the U. S. Army Building, (War Department), occupying block between Water and Pearl Streets. The Kemble Building occupies block between Bridge and Stone Streets.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE. This magnificent brick structure fronts on Bowling Green, and covers the Square bounded by Stone, New and Beaver Streets; the dimensions of the building are 307x 150 feet, has a tower 225 feet high with clock, the face of which is 12 feet in diameter. The building is entirely fireproof, and said to have cost $3,179,000 to erect.

The first floor is occupied by the Produce Exchange Bank; Maritime Exchange; Branch Post Office, Station P; Telegraph Office; Safe Deposit Vaults; etc. On the second floor are committee rooms, office of the Exchange, and the main hall. The entrance for visitors is from the Library floor, the gallery is open from 10 a.m., until 3 p.m.; the hall is COTTON EXCHANGE.

Looking down Beaver St., the large yellow brick building we see is the COTTON EXCHANGE, in Hanover Square.

BOWLING GREEN. at the beginning of Broadway, is a small called enclosure, so from having been used as such, prior to the Revolution. At that time it contained a leaden equestrian statof George III, ue which the populace in their patriotic zeal demolished and converted into musket balls. A fountain now occupies the site.

THE WASHINGTON BUILDING, the building opposite, is on site of the old Washington Hotel, once Washington's Headquarters.

It was erected by Cyrus W. Field, and is occupied by United States Bank and miscellaneous offices. On turning into Broadway we notice some of the immense structures of modern times Among these may be noted the Wells Building, at No. 18; the Standard Oil Building, at No. 26, and Aldrich Court, at No. 45.

THE CONSOLIDATED STOCK AND PETROLEUM EXCHANGE is at the corner of Exchange Place. The business of the Exchange is dealing in Petroleum and prominent stocks of the country. Visitors admitted to the gallery,

Fronting Wall street, with its portals invitingly open every day in the year, stands TRINITY CHURCH. It is the third edifice of the kind erected upon the spot, the first having been destroyed in the great fire of 1776. This fine gothic structure was completed in 1846, having been seven years in building. The church is 192 feet in length, 80 in breadth, and 60 in height. The interior will richly repay examination. The steeple towers up 284 feet in height; the walls of the church are nearly 50 feet high. The grave-yard of Old Trinity occupies nearly an entire block. Within it are the venerated tombs of Alexander Hamilton, the statesman and friend of Washington; the heroic commander Lawrence, and many other illustrious public men.

Wall Street—The buildings are massive and imposing; the following are most noteworthy. The United Bank Building, corner of Broadway; No. 10, Astor Building; No. 13, visitor's entrance to the Stock Exchange. The U.S. Sub-Treasury is on the corner of Nassau Street; a fine statue of Washington, with the following inscription, is on the steps of this building:

"On this Site in Federal Hall, April 30, 1789, George Washington took the oath of office, as first President of the United States."

On the opposite corner is the Drexel Building, and adjoining, on Broad Street, is the elegant Mills Building. Next to the Sub-Treasury is the Assay Office, erected in 1823. Gold and silver brought here in the crude state are assayed, refined and cast into bars.

COLUMBUS, CENTRAL PARK. THE CUSTOM HOUSE, on corner of William street, is built of Quincy Granite and is 200 by 150 feet, and 75 feet high, with twelve granite columns 38 feet long by 4½ feet in diameter, cut from one stone. The Rotunda is a beautiful hall 80 feet high. The building cost $1,800,000 to erect. Ferry to Brooklyn is at the foot of this street.

Returning to Broadway we find the Trinity Building at No. 111; the Boreel Building at No. 119; the Guernsey Building at No. 164. The Equitable Life Insurance Building is at the corner of Cedar street, the entrance opens into the finest court yard in America, containing telephone and telegraph offices, handsomely fitted stalls for the sale of stationery, cigars, newspapers and books, elegant dining halls, etc. Passing through to the rear of the building, on Nassau street is the Mutual Life Insurance new building, erected at the cost of over two millions of dollars. Their old building is at the corner of Liberty street and Broadway.

Maiden Lane is the trade centre of manufacturing jewelers; opposite to it is Cortlandt street, the Coal and Iron Exchange being at No. 19. The Western Union Telegraph is at the corner of Dey street.

Fulton Street extends from the North to the East Rivers, having at its termini two of the most important markets in the city. Fulton Market at the east end, is celebrated for its supply of fish. In 1877, State Fish Commissioner, Eugene G. Blackford, inaugurated the custom of having a special display of fish, which now attracts great crowds. It occurs on the first of April, and is known as the Trout Opening Day. Washington

Market at the west end is the principal centre for the distribution of meats and produce, both are places of interest to strangers. Fulton Feery is opposite Fulton market. The United States Hotel is at the corner of Water and Fulton streets. The Bennett Building is on the northwest corner of Nassau street, opposite the office of the New York Commercial Advertiser, and the ten story Evening Post building is at the south east corner of Broadway.

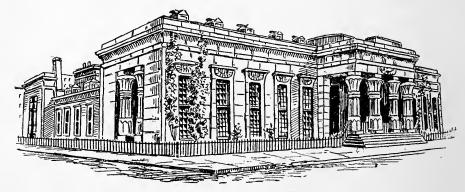

ST. PAUL'S CHAPEL, corner of Vesey street, was built by Trinity Corporation, and is the oldest church building in the city. The interior is quaint and old-fashioned. In the church yard, surrounding the edifice, are numerous monuments worthy of attention, among the

INDIAN HUNTER, CENTBAL PARK. most notable being a memorial tablet to General Richard Montgomery. Monuments to Emmet and MacNeven, the Irish Patriots, and George Frederick Cook. The famous Astor House occupies the block between Vesey and Barclay Streets. Erected in 1838.

Across Broadway, at the corner of Ann Street, is the New York Herald building. Park Row branches off from Broadway to the right. At the beginning of Park Row and both sides of the Astor House are starting points of innumerable lines of street cars.

Nearly all the morning and evening papers have their business offices in this vicinity. In no city in this country can be found such an amazing group of lofty buildings as here. The Tribune Building, facing Printing House Square, the first to be erected, is built of stone, brick and iron, in composite style, with tower 85 feet high. Temple Court is a huge building 160 feet high, erected at a cost of $1,200,000. Morse Building, Nassau and Beekman streets, is 165 feet high. The Potter Building, on the opposite corner, with fronts on Park Row, Nassau and Beekman streets, is 185 feet high, and cost $2,500,000, and the new Times Building, 213 feet high, topping all by 28 feet.

On Broadway again, opposite the Astor House, is the Post Office building. The basement, first and second floors are occupied by the Post Office Department, while the third and fourth floors are used by the United States Courts and the Law Library.

Just above the Post Office is CITY HALL PARK; it contains the City Hall, Hall of Records, Court Houses, and other public buildings. East of the Park is the station of the Second and Third Avenue Elevated R. R., and entrance to the great Brooklyn Bridge.

PRINTING HOUSE SQUARE.

BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

The span over the river is 1,595 feet, 6 in. The height of the roadway in the clear in the middle of the river, is 135 feet. The towers supporting the great strain of the entire work are each 276 feet, 6 inches high, above high water, their width and thickness at water line 140 and 59 feet respectively, and at the top of the tower 136 and 33 feet. The depth of the New York tower foundation is 78 feet 6 inches below high water; the depth of the Brooklyn foundation is 45 feet. The Brooklyn tower contains 38,214 cubic yards of masonry, and weighs (as nearly as can be estimated) 93,079 tons; the New York tower contains 46,945 cubic yards of masonry, and its weight is 125,000 tons.

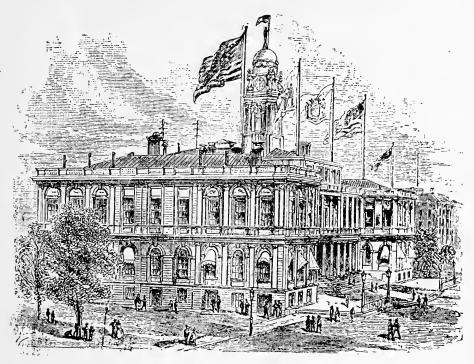

The promenade in crossing the bridge is 15 feet and 7 inches in width. It is raised eleven feet above the rail track, and is protected by a railing $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet high. Upon each side is space 12 feet 8 inches wide for a railway, and upon which the cars are drawn by an endless wire cable and stationary engine, and at the extreme outer sides beyond the tracks, are the roadways, each 18 feet and 9 inches wide, travel toward Brooklyn taking the southern roadway, travel for New York going over the northern passage. The grade of the roadway is 3 feet 3 inches to the hundred feet, and its total length from the beginning of one approach to the end of the other is 5,989 feet and 6 inches.

AULD LANG SYNE, CENTRAL PARK.

The cables are 3,578 feet 6 inches in length, measuring 15³/₄ inches in diameter, and made of 5,444 galvanized wires, and each cable weighs 800 tons. The cost of the bridge was about fifteen and one half million dollars.

Ordinary vessels can easily pass beneath. Very large sailing vessels have to lower their topmasts. The fare for foot passengers is one cent. The fare on the bridge cars is three cents.

CITY HALL.

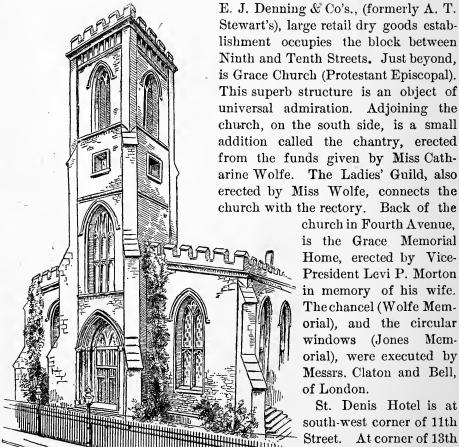

Returning to Broadway at N. E. corner of Chamber St., is the white marble building, formerly A. T. Stewart's wholesale store. It has been remodelled for offices. Broadway in this part is largely devoted to clothing stores. At about Worth Street the wholesale dry goods stores become numerous. Canal Street, a little further north is one of the widest cross-streets. Earle's Hotel is two blocks east, corner of Centre.

The Metropolitan Hotel is at the corner of Prince Street, and Niblo's Garden Theatre is in the same building. This is one of the largest theatres in the city. The Grand Central Hotel is between Bleecker and West 3d Streets. New York Hotel is corner of Waverley Place.

Astor Place branches off diagonally toward the large brown-stone building of the Cooper Union, opposite which is the Bible House. The Astor Library is quite near here, in Lafayette Place. At the junction of Astor Place and Eighth Street stands Old Clinton Hall. The American Institute occupies a portion of this building. Its library contains about 12,000 volumes. The Institute holds its annual fair in the building on Third avenue, between 63d and 64th Streets. The Mercantile Library is also in Clinton Hall. It contains over 205,000 volumes. Members pay, if clerks, $4 yearly; all others, $5. All important new works are purchased as soon as published. The reading-room, on the third floor, is supplied with the leading American and foreign papers and magazines. Branches of the Mercantile Library have been established at 62 Liberty Street and 431 Fifth Avenue.

South-east corner of Broadway and Eighth Street is the Sinclair House.

CHURCH OF THE STRANGERS, MERCER ST.

St. Denis Hotel is at south-west corner of 11th Street. At corner of 13th Street is the Star Theatre. The Morton House is on the south-east corner of t4th St. The hotel sidewalk fronting the Square is called the Rialto (by the "Perfesh"). Actors are usually found lounging about waiting for engagements. Further on at 56 E. 14th Street, is the entrance to the Union Square Theatre. Steinway Hall is at 107 East 14th Street. Academy of Music is on the corner of Irving Place, and at the corner of 15th Street and Irving Place is Amberg's German Theatre. Adjoining the Academy is the Tammany Hall Building. The Tammany Society has been in existence for about a century, and possesses great political power. Tony Pastor's Theatre occupies a portion of this building.

West of Broadway, ou Fourteenth Street is the veritable shopper's paradise. The immense establishment of R. H. Macy & Co., is on the corner of Sixth Avenue. Just beyond is the 14th Street Theatre.

Union Square, a small park, extends from 14th to 17th Streets between Broadway and Fourth Avenue. It is ornamented with fine shade trees, and a neat fountain. Its northern side is an open plaza used for parades and public meetings, with a cottage and platform for speakers or reviewing officers. On special occasions the row of colored gas lamps is lighted, and presents a picturesque appearance. At the south-east corner is the bronze equestrian statue of Washington. In the park, facing Broadway, a bronze statue of Lafayette stands, designed by Bartholdi, and erected in 1876 by the French residents of New York. At the south-west corner is the statue of

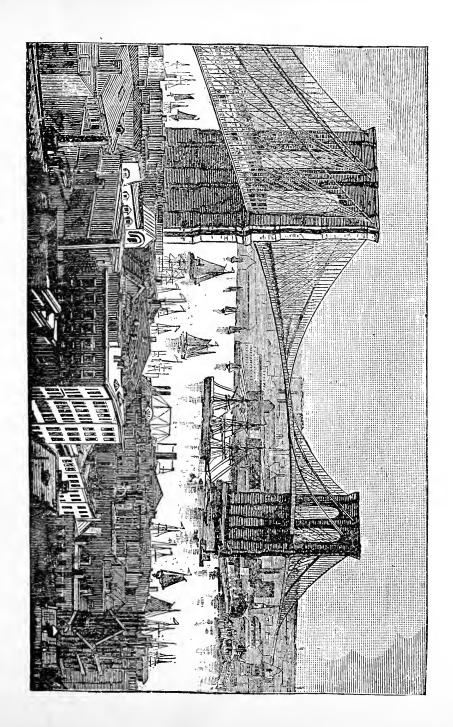

AMBERG'S GERMAN THEATRE.

Lincoln, erected by the Union League Club. On the west side is Brentano's News Agency, Tiffany's, the great jewelers, and Sarony, the famous photographer. On the east side (4th Avenue), Union Square Hotel, Hotel Dam and Hotel Hungaria. On the north side of the square (17th Street), is the Everett House.

The most fashionable shopping quarter is between Union and Madison Squares. Gorham Manufacturing Co., silversmiths, on the corner of 19th Street; opposite is Arnold, Constable & Co., dry goods. Lord & Taylor, dry goods, and Continental Hotel at 20th Street. At 22d Street, J. & C. Johnston, dry goods, and Brooks Bros., clothiers, are opposite.

Many places of interest are to be found on Twenty-third Street, east of Broadway. On the corner, Hotel Bartholdi; just beyond is the American Art Gallery. The Young Men's Christian Association is at the corner of Fourth Avenue. The Association seeks to improve the spiritual, moral, social, mental and physical condition of young men. It maintains a gymnasium, bowling alley, baths, a reading-room supplied with papers, a library containing 32,000 volumes, evening educational classes in writing, arithmetic, bookkeeping, phonography, German, Spanish, French, and vocal music, various entertainments, Bible-classes and prayer-meetings.

NEW YORK HOSPITAL.

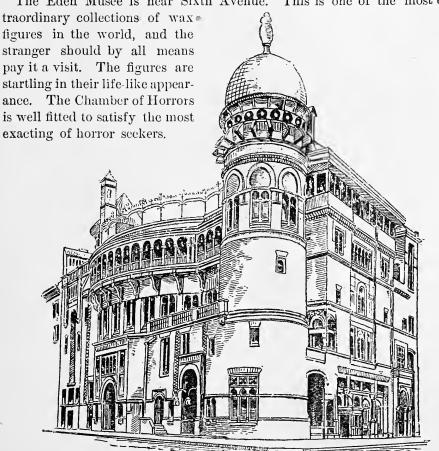

Directly opposite is the National Academy of Design. Annual exhibitions of the Academy are held during the spring and fall of each year, during which time the building is open to the public for a small admission fee. Lyceum Theatre adjoins the Academy of Design on Fourth Avenue, and the Ashland Hotel is opposite.

The New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children has its office at No. 100 East Twenty-third Street. It is formed for the protection of children against brutal treatment. The College of the City of New York is at the corner of Lexington Avenue. It was originally entitled the Free Academy and is intended to furnish a complete collegiate education. No student can be admitted to the College unless he resides in the city, be fourteen years of age, have attended the Common Schools in the city twelve months, and passed a good examination

Returning to west of Broadway we find some of the largest retail book stores. 27 West 23d Street, G. P. Putnam's Sons; 37, T. W. Christion (French); 39, E. P. Dutton & Co., and at 38, Randolph & Co. The notable dry and fancy goods stores are Le Boutillier Bros., No. 31; Stern Bros., No. 32, and the Liliputian Bazar.

Masonic Temple is corner of Sixth Avenue and 23d Street.

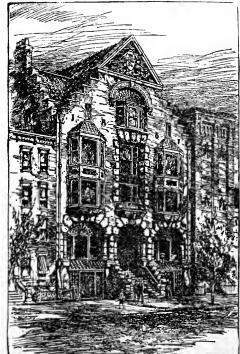

Returning to Broadway we reach Madison Square, a park comprising 6 acres, at the junction of Broadway and Fifth Avenue. It is handsomely planted with shade trees. In the centre is a large fountain. On the Broadway side, within the park, are the statues of Wm. H. Seward and Admiral Farragut, and in a triangular space between the Park and Broadway is the Worth monument.

Just back of the Fifth Avenue Hotel on 24th Street, is the pretty little Madison Square Theatre. Albemarle Hotel is on the corner of 24th Street. Hoffman House is at the corner of 25th Street. St. James' Hotel southwest, and Delmonico's, southeast corner of 26th Street. On the southeast corner of 27th Street is the Victoria Hotel; diagonally opposite is the Coleman House. The Fifth Avenue Theatre is at the northwest corner of 28th Street. Further along Dockstader's Minstrels. On the east side, above 28th Street, is the Sturtevant House, and on the corner of 29th Street is the Gilsey House. At southwest cor. of 30th Street is Daly's Theatre. Bijou Opera House between 30th and 31st Streets on the west side, and opposite is Palmer's Theatre (late Wallack's). At the southeast corner of 31st Street, is the Grand Hotel. The Union Dime Savings Institution building is at 32d Street, at junction of Sixth Avenue and Broadway. The Standard Theatre is between 31st and 32d Streets, on the west side. The brown stone church on the corner of 34th Street is the Broadway Tabernacle. A bronze statue of Wm. E. Dodge is in the triangular space at 35th Street. Harrigan's Park Theatre, northwest corner of 35th Street. Marlborough Hotel, corner of 36th Street, and Hotel Normandie corner of 37th Street. The Casino, at the corner of 39th Street, is a beautiful structure modelled after a portion of the Alhambra, and is devoted to comic opera. The Garden on the roof affords a delightful resort in summer. On the corner opposite is the Oriental Hotel.

The Metropolitan Opera House occupies entire block bounded by Broadway, Seventh Avenue, 39th and 40th Streets. It has the largest auditorium in America. The scating capacity of the house is 6,000. There are 122 boxes, each with a spacious salon attached. The stage is 98 feet wide, 76

RAILROAD BRANCH OF Y. M C. ASSOCIATION.

THE BOWERY.

The great East Side thoroughfare commencing at Chatham Square, to its termination at the junction of Third and Fourth Avenues, is one of unceasing activity. At midnight the throng is scarcely less than at midday. Its theatres, of which there are seven, grading from the highest class of drama to the lowest of varieties. Dime museums, concert saloons and catchpenny affairs of every description make it one of the most unique sights the city possesses. Some of the stores compare favorably with those on the more fashionable avenues as to outward appearance and fair dealing. The most important buildings are the Citizens' Savings Bank, corner of Canal Street; the Bowery Savings Bank near Grand Street; the branch of the Young Men's Christian Association at No. 243, and the Dry Dock Savings Bank at the corner of 3d Street. Grand Street for about three blocks east of the Bowery is the shopping centre for the east side ladies. The immense bazars of E. Ridley & Sons and Lord & Taylor with the accompanying smaller stores. makes it a formidable rival of the Bowery itself.

EAST SIDE AVENUES.

East of Second Avenue between Houston and 14th Streets is often called "Germany." Avenue A (Dutch Broadway), is the main thoroughfare. Here the German language is spoken almost exclusively, the signs are German, and everything has a decidedly Teutonic appearance. There is very little of interest to strangers east of Avenue A.

SECOND AVENUE.

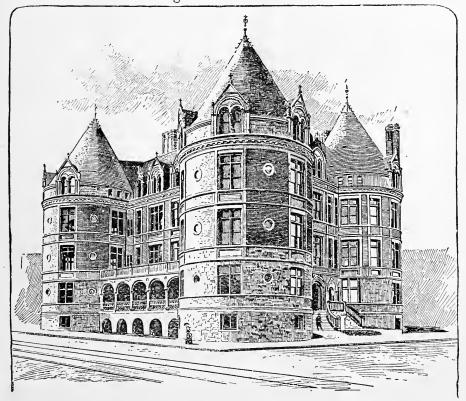

Second Avenue begins at East Houston Street, and continues in a straight line to Harlem River. The lower portion of the avenue is given to sub-yard are Petrus Stuyvesant, the last Dutch governor; Col. Slaughter, (one of the old English governors), Commodore Perry, and Admiral Baldwin. It was from here that the body of A. T. Stewart was stolen. The tomb is located near the centre of the yard facing Second Avenue.

On the southeast corner 11th Street is the New York Historical Society Building. On the southwest corner of 14th Street is the 14th Street Presbyterian Church. From 15th to 17th Streets is Stuyvesant Square. The large church fronting on the Square is St. George's (Episcopal). Adjoining, in the rear, is the Memorial House erected in 1888, from funds provided by Charles and Louisa Tracy.

The upper portion of the Avenue is devoted to manufactories, etc., which are of little interest to strangers.

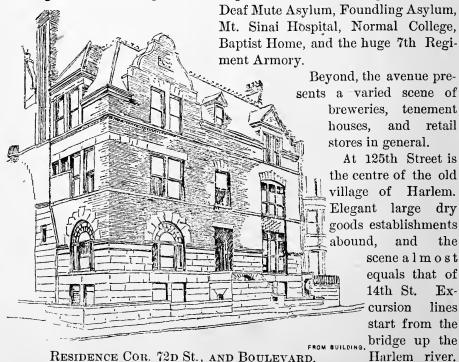

FROM BUILDING.

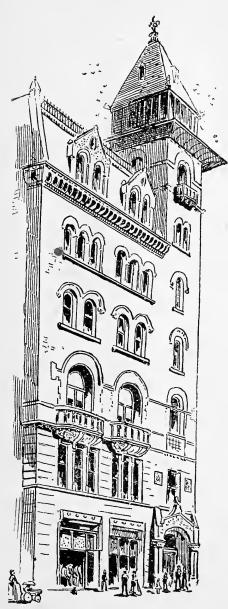

CANCER HOSPITAL, CENTRAL PARK WEST, AND 108TH ST.

THIRD AVENUE.

Third Avenue is solidly built and perfectly straight from its beginning at the junction of Bowery and Fourth Avenue at 6th Street to the Harlem River, a distance of six miles, and is one of the most active avenues in the city. The best way to do the avenue is by the Elevated Road. Tompkins Market, (the famous 69th Regiment occupying the Hall above as an armory), Cooper Union and Bible House are at the commencement of the avenue. Nearest station of the Elevated Road to these places is at 9th Street. At 11th Street is the Office of Charities and Corrections. Strangers wishing permits to visit any Institutions under this head apply here. (Station at 9th or 14th Streets.)

At 24th Street is the centre of the Horse Mart. At 30th Street is the Third Avenue Theatre. American Institute Hall is at 63d Street, and at 66th Street is the Chapin Home. On East 67th Street is the elegant new building of the Central Turnverein. From 67th to 69th are a group of buildings most interesting, viz; Headquarters of the Fire Department, the

HEADQUARTERS FIRE DEPT.

FOURTH AVENUE.

(From 32d Street to Harlem River is termed Park Avenue.

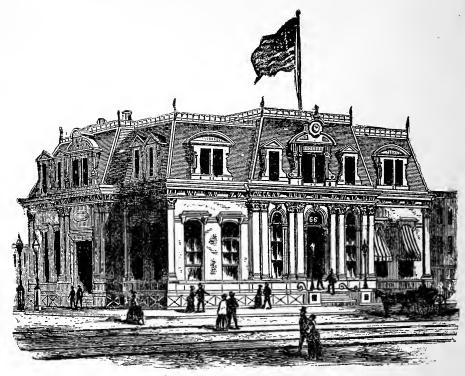

FOURTH AVENUE begins at the junction of Third Avenue and Bowery at 6th Street. The great building at the junction is the Cooper Institute. This institution was founded by Peter Cooper in 1859, and has cost over one and a half million dollars. The Institution is maintained at an annual cost of $60,000. Its aim is purely educational. places within the reach of the poor of both sexes the opportunity to acquire a thorough education in the varied branches of literature, art and science.

It provides evening classes for all those who by reason of their avocation are necessarily debarred from day attendance. Its comprehensive courses of lectures on art, natural philosophy and rhetoric are free.

The department of art includes modelling in clay and drawing from life and from casts, India ink, crayon, wood engraving, photography, perspective and oil painting.

The course of study in the scier tific department includes a function course of mathematics as preliminary to the study of practical engineering and mathematics.

It has a free library and readingroom, where are found over 300 papers and periodicals.

OFFICE OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS.

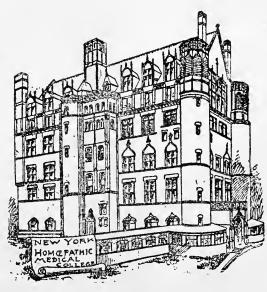

Opposite, between Third and Fourth Avenues and 8th and 9th Streets is the Bible House, erected by the American Bible Society in 1852. Branches for railroad men are at 361 Madison Avenue, cor. 45th Street; 470 West 30th Street, near Tenth Avenue, and 861 Eleventh Avenue, corner 60th Street.

On the northwest corner is the Academy of Design. Adjoining is the Lyceum Theatre, and opposite is the Ashland House. From 26th to 27th Streets, on the west side, is the Madison Square Garden. This building occupies the entire block, the main entrance being on Madison Avenue. It is used for large gatherings, such as walking matches, Barnum's circus, Horticultural displays, and public meetings. The present building is to be torn down to make room for a new structure.

Park Avenue Hotel is at 32d Street, and from 34th Street to 42d Street, over the hill, is called Park Avenue. At 34th Street is the Church of the Messiah (Unitarian); at 35th Street is the Church of the Covenant; at 39th Street is the First Baptist Church. From 40th to 41st Streets is the palatial Murray Hill Hotel, and from 41st to 42d Streets, on the east side is the Grand Union Hotel.

The Grand Central Depot materially interferes with the progress of the avenue at this point, the avenue stopping abruptly in front of the building, and commencing again at 50th Street, eight blocks farther From 34th to 42d Streets on. the avenue is tunneled, which was originally done to allow the trains of the N. Y. & N. H., and Harlem Roads to proceed to the depot, then at 26th Street. A series of open cuts and tunnels continue from 42d Street to the Harlem River. From 49thto 50th Streets, west side, is Columbia College.

The block opposite is occupied by the Women's Hospital, incorporated The upper ward free to residents of New York State, to others an entrance fee of twenty-six dollars is required.

The main drill room is 200x300 feet, the largest in the United States. Visitors admitted on application to the janitor of the building.

At the corner of 68th Street is the Normal Col-This institution lege. accommodates about 1.600 pupils. The building is 300 feet long by 125 wide and holds thirty recitation rooms, three large lecture rooms, retiring rooms, a library and a fine main hall:

It was erected at a cost of $484,000. The College is under the control of the Board of Education. On the west side from 69th to 70th Streets, is the Union Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church. It was founded in 1836, and forms a group of handsome buildings. The property of the Seminary is valued at $2,000,000. The buildings along the avenue are the Morgan Library, Adams Chapel, and Jessup Hall. Back of all is the great dormitory..

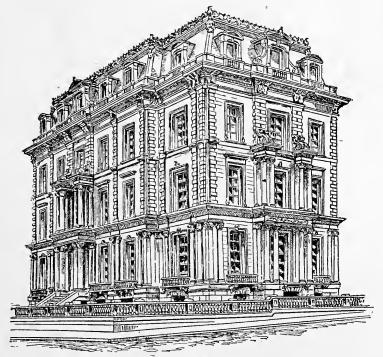

The block above is occupied by the Presbyterian Hospital. At 72d Street on the east side is the magnificent "Freundschauft" Club House, erected at a cost of over half a million of dollars. At 77th Street is the German Hospital. The avenue continues to the Harlem River, and will eventually be one of the finest in the city.

The corner of West 29th Street is known as the Holland Church, and belongs to the Collegiate Reformed Church, one of the oldest and wealthiest corporations in the city, chartered by King William III, under date May 11, 1696.

Just around the corner, on East 29th Street, is the Church of the Transfiguration. Its pastor became famous about seventeen years ago through an incident which proved the Christian charity of Mr. Houghten. George Holland, a member of Wallack's company, died and his friends applied to Rev. George Sabine, Pastor of the Church of the Atonement, a fashionable church then, in Madison Avenue, between 28th and 29th Streets, to read the burial service. When Mr. Sabine was informed that the dead man had been an actor he curtly refused to permit the funeral service to be held in his church. "There is a little church around the corner," said Mr. Sabine, "where you can be accommodated."

Joseph Jefferson, who had the funeral of Holland in charge, went to the Rev. Mr. Houghton, the pastor of the Church of the Transfiguration, which was "the little church around the corner" referred to by Mr. Sabine, and Mr. Houghton at once expressed his entire willingness to officiate at the funeral services of an actor or any other Christian. The Church of the Transfiguration and its pastor have been very popular with actors ever since this incident.

At the northeast corner of 32d Street is the Knickerbocker Club. At 33d and 34th Streets, on the rise of Murray Hill, are the residences of John Jacob and William Astor, and at the corner of the latter street is the white marble mansion of the late A. T. Stewart, erected at a cost of two million dollars

On the south-west corner of 57th Street is the residence of ex-Secretary of State Whitney, and the opposite corner is the new residence of Cornelius Vanderbilt. The elegant private residence of Mrs. E. B. Alexander, 4 West 58th Street, fronts the Plaza, which is the principal entrance to the Central Park. Plaza Hotel is the large building extending from 58th to 59th Streets. At East 64th Street is the entrance to Central Park Menagerie. Lenox Library occupies the block between 70th and 71st Streets. It was built and endowed by the rate James Lenox. The library occupies the entire south wing; in the north wing will be found a collection of Bibles containing the earliest printed books, the first book printed in English, and the first book printed in this country.

There are also rare manuscripts on vellum dated before printing was invented, ancient and modern vases, bric-a-brac, etc.

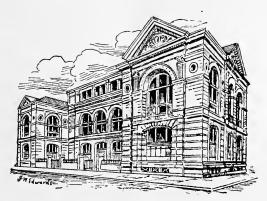

The second floor of the main building is devoted to art, and contains about 150 fine paintings, and 30 pieces of statuary.

The Library is free to the public, and the building is open from 10 A. M., until 4 P. M., daily, Sundays and Mondays excepted.

SIXTH AVENUE.

Sixth Avenue is next to Broadway in importance as a retail business street. It extends from Carmine Street north to 59th Street and Central Park. The largest and most elegant stores are from 14th to 23d Streets, the most noted being R. H. Macy & Co., on the east side, on the west, B. Altman & Co., Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, and O'Neill's. The principal buildings, other than the dry goods stores, are Jefferson Market Court and Prison, at the corner of West 10th Street, a picturesque gothic structure, with lofty clock tower. The lower part of the building is occupied as a Police Court; the Civil Court, (3d Judicial District), occupies the upper portion. In the rear, on West 10th Street is the prison accommodating nearly 200 boarders.

At the corner of Sixth and Greenwich Avenues is the new Jefferson Market Building. The upper portion of the building is devoted to miscellaneous offices, while the market proper is first class in all its appointments.

EIGHTH AVENUE.

Eighth Avenue begins at Abingdon Square and ends at the Harlem River. Between 14th and 59th Streets the Avenue abounds in small stores of every description. The largest are Jones's, at the corner of 19th Street; Ehrich Bros., 24th Street, and Walton's, 51st Street. There are but two theatres on the avenue, the Grand Opera House, corner 23d Street, where all the leading plays are produced at popular prices, and Harry Miner's Variety Theatre, near 25th Street.

From 59th to 110th Streets is now called Central Park West. On this portion of the avenue, at 72d Street, are the famous Dakota Flats, said to be 160 feet high. From 77th to 81st Streets is Manhattan Square, the large building occupying the centre of the park is the Museum of Natural History; it is open to the public without charge on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of every week.

At 108th Street is the Caneer Hospital, founded in 1884. and endowed by John Jacob Astor with $200,000. At 110th Street is the high curve of the Elevated Road, being 94 feet from the street to the top of the rail. At 155th Street is the station of the New York and Northern Railway. yond is the Harlem River, ; with High Bridge in the distance.

Tenth Avenue extends from 542 West Street to Harlem River. lower portion is of little interest to strangers. The Roosevelt Hospital is at 59th Street. Between 59th and 60th Streets, is the College of Physicians and Surgeons, connected with Columbia College. It was founded in 1807, and has 20 professors and nearly 700 students. William H. Vanderbilt gave it $500,000, which was increased by $250,000 given by his four sons to establish a free clinic and dispensary, and $250,000 by his daughter, Mrs. William D. Sloane, to establish the Sloane Maternity Hospital.

COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

At 93d Street is the Methodist Episcopal Church Home. At 105th Street is the Home for Aged Hebrews. At 116th Street is the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum. Just above 127th Street is the Depot of the Cable Road; go in at the centre entrance, down one short flight of stairs, and view the ponderous machinery that moves the cable; it is worth seeing. The elegant large building at 136th Street is the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, and opposite is the pumping station of the New Aqueduct.

The old mansion on the northeast corner of 141st Street and Convent Avenue was formerly the home of Alexander Hamilton, of Revolutionary fame. It formerly stood about 300 feet to the northwest of its present site. The 13 Elms planted by him occupy their original position.

At 143d Street is the Colored Orphan Asylum, and from 153d to 155th Streets, is the Trinity Cemetery. At 173d Street is the High Bridge Reservoir.

At 175th Street is the New York Juvenile Asylum, a fine stone edifice, a home and reformatory for neglected children. The asylum, by its charter, becomes the legal guardian of all such children as may be committed to it by the voluntary act of their parents or by the precept of a police magistrate. The institution owes its origin to Dr. J. D. Russ, of this city, so favorably known for his exertions in establishing the New York Institution for the Blind. It occupies 20 acres of ground, which is in part cultivated by the children, who, during their stay in the asylum, are instructed in all the branches of a common school education.

The institution has a House of Reception for 200 children, at No. 71 West 13th Street. All children, when first committed, must remain in this house ten days, to afford their parents an opportunity to reclaim them.

Just beyond at 181st Street is the elegant new bridge across the Harlem River.

The mass of broken stone seen on either side of the river is from the tunnel of the New Aqueduct, which passes beneath the bed of the river at a depth of 150 feet. The new aqueduct is nearly 32 miles in length, the diameter inside, 14 feet, and at an average depth of 200 feet below the surface.

The Cable Road ends at 186th Street. A short walk to the old earth works of Fort George will well repay one for the trouble. The view from the top of the bluff is one of the most picturesque in the city. There are numerous summer-gardens in the vicinity.

MADISON AVENUE.

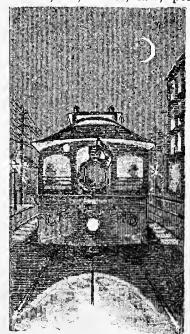

Madison Avenue begins at 23d Street, and ranks next to Fifth Avenue in point of interest. It abounds in palatial residences and elegant churches.

Madison Square Presbyterian Church, a neat brown stone structure, is at the corner of 24th Street. At southeast corner of 26th Street is the old Union League Club House, now occupied by the University Club. Opposite is the Madison Square Garden. At 29th Street is Rutgers Presbyterian Church. At the corner of 31st Street is the Madison Avenue Baptist Church. At 38th Street is Zion's Church (Episcopal). At 42d Street is the Church of the Holy Trinity (Episcopal). At 44th Street St. Bartholomew's (Episcopal), and at 45th Street is the handsome little building of the Young Men's Christian Association (Railroad Branch).

Columbia College occupies block 49th and 50th Streets, Fourth and Madison Avenues. In 1754 it was chartered as King's College, and the first buildings were situated west of College Place. It was removed to its present site in 1857. There are five departments; art, mines, law, point cal science, and medicine, with a corps of sixty instructors. Its treasury is chiefly supplied from the rental of landed property granted for that purpose by the state of New York and Trinity Church. The college course extends over a period of four years. The scientific department of Columbia College is called the School of Mines. It is divided into sections of civil engineering, mining, engineering, metallurgy, geology, and natural history. The course also occupies four years.

The Florentine palace built by Henry Villard is at 50th Street, while opposite rises the great Cathedral, flauked on either side by the archbishop's palace (No. 452), and the beautiful rectory (No. 460). From 51st to 52d Streets, on both sides, are the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylums.

AUDUBON PARK.

AUDUBON PARK is the name given to what was formerly the grounds attached to the mansion which was the residence of the ornithologist Audubon. The lawn, interspersed with handsome villas, is unfenced, and it has the appearance of a private park. It overlooks the Hudson, and lies between Trinity Cemetery and 158th Street. It is reached by the Sixth Ave. Elevated Railway, and the Tenth Avenue Cable Railroad.

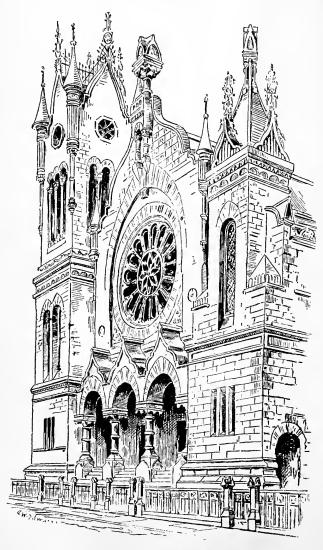

NEW YORK ATHLETIC CLUB. BRYANT PARK

Bryant Park is between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, 40th and 42d Streets, and has an extent of between nine and ten acres, upon one-half of which is the "Distributing Reservoir." The other, or western half, once had upon it the "New York Crystal Palace," but since the destruction of that building by the fire of 1858, the grounds have been kept open as a park.

CENTRAL PARK.

The Central Park carriage service is under the supervision of the Park Commissioners, and for strangers affords the best facility for seeing the JEWISH SYNAGOGUE, MADISON AVENUE.

The point of Park. starting is either from Fifth Avenue and 59th Street, or Eighth Avenue and 59th Street gates; usual time, one hour; fare 25 cents. Tickets must be purchased of the starter. and they entitle passengers to be put down and taken up at the Museum of Natural History, Mt. St. Vincent, Museum of Art, and at the Terrace Bridge, without extra charge.

Carriages in going take the West Drive, in returning the East Drive, thus making the tour of the Park.

In going, you are driven past the Museum of Natural History, in Manhattan Square, the great Croton Reservoir and the tower of the lower Reservoir.

In returning, carriages stop at Mt. St. Vincent, Museum of Art, and Terrace Bridge. The principal walks of the lower park lead more or less directly to the Mall, and through this to the Terrace, which is the central architectural feature of the Park.

Visitors entering the Park at Fifth Avenue and 59th Street will pass on the left the Pond, a sheet of water covering five acres, in a valley near 59th Street. Soon after, crossing a bridge passing over the bridle path, is the old Arsenal now used as a Menagerie Here is quite a large collection of animals and interesting aviary. little further and the Mall is reached, beginning at the Marble Arch, (a tunnel for pedestrians under the driveway). Several of the best statues in the Park are here. "Shakespeare," "Robert Burns," "Walter Scott," "Fitz Greene Halleck," and to the left "The Indian Hunter and his Dog."

Concerts on Saturday afternoons during the summer. On the bank above is a long, vine-covered summerhouse, and near it the Casino, a restaurant.

THE TERRACE.

The Terrace is magnificent in workmanship. A stairway has been constructed from the plaza at the end of the Mall to the level of the Terrace below, terminating in an arcade that passes under the drive. The floor and ceiling are finished in elaborate patterns of encaustic tiles, and the stonework is everywhere beautifully carved. The plan for the hall, and the stairways leading to it, as well as for the stairway from the drive to the Terrace embraces many artistic embellishments. A broad esplanade that stretches north to the margin of the Lake, is enclosed with a low wall of carved stone. which is pierced with two openings, one on either side, from which footpaths lead northward.

The Ramble is a labyrinth of wooded walks abounding in sequestered nooks, rustic bridges over little brooks, wild vines and flowers, summerhouses and seats of rustic make.

The Cave is at the base of the extreme western slope of the Ramble, an interesting spot, partly natural and partly artificial. A steep path leads to the foot of a large rock, turning which, sharp to the left, the cave is entered at a level; the entrance is dark, but a few steps reveal the light. From the other side a series of rocky steps lead to the top of the rock over the Cave.

The Belvidere is an irregular Gothic structure, situated on a large rock that pierces the wall of the Old Reservoir at its southwestern angle. This is the highest point in the park, and an excellent place of observation.

Lover's Lane is a perfectly straight path running east from the Belvidere, and leads direct to the Art Museum, which is close to Fifth Avenue, at the 79th Street gate. The Obelisk stands directly opposite.

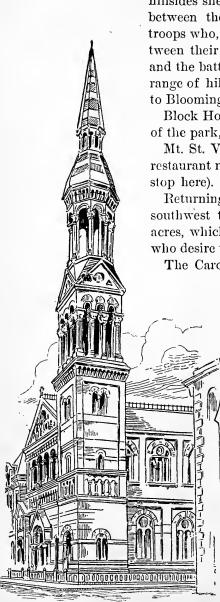

There are also numerous small waterfalls, rustic bridges, and paths, so arranged as to produce a charming effect. North of the New Reservoir is the North Meadow, to reach which a straight drive from the lake leads near Fifth Avenue to all the northern portions of the Park.

The upper part of the Park is the most bold and romantic, and the same time the richest in its historical associations. It is said that "the deep valley called the McGowan Pass. dividing this northern portion, is the valley which, by means of its darkly wooded hillsides sheltered the secret messengers passing between the scattered parties of the American troops who, during the few days intervening between their disheartening rout on Long Island and the battle of Harlem Plains, rallied about the range of hills extending from Fort Washington to Bloomingdale.

Block House, a relic of 1812, is at the upper end of the park, at 110th Street, near Eighth Avenue.

Mt. St. Vincent is a handsome, well-appointed restaurant near 106th Street. (Park carriages all stop here).

Returning to the Terrace, we observe to the southwest the Ball-Ground, a level lawn of 10 acres, which is open to the youth of both sexes who desire to play croquet or baseball.

The Carousel for children possesses many attractions, a merry-go-round and swings. The Dairy is a restaurant for the sale of ice cream, milk, and similar food, principally for children close by.

The transverse roads are of great importance to the beauty and convenience of the Park, as they allow the travel incident to business to pass unhindered on its way, crossing the Park at four places, viz., at 65th, 79th, 85th and 87th Streets; while no impediment is suffered by the pleasure-seekers, who are left in the uninterrupted enjoyment of their rides, drives or walks. Much credit . has been given, both in this country and in Europe, to the architects of the Park for the clever suggestion of these useful and also ornamental roads.

CITY HALL PARK.

An enclosure of about eight acres, contains the City Hall, Court House, and other public buildings. This Park formerly extended on the south to the junction of Broadway and Park Row, but the southern portion has been ceded to the United States Government as a site for the Post Office.

GRAMERCY PARK.

This Park is private property, having been ceded to the owners of the surrounding lots by S. B. Ruggles, Esq. It forms the area between 20th and 21st Streets, and the 3d and 4th Avenues.

HIGH BRIDGE PARK

Extends from 155th Street, along the west bank of the Harlem river to the bluff at Fort George. It can be reached by the Sixth Avenue Elevated Railroad to 155th Street, or Third Avenue Elevated Railroad to Harlem, and thence by steamboat, or from 125th Street by Cable Road via 10th Ave.

This is a popular resort during the summer. There are several hotels and restaurants, and entertainments of various kinds. The principal features are the bridges

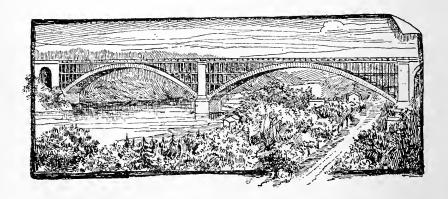

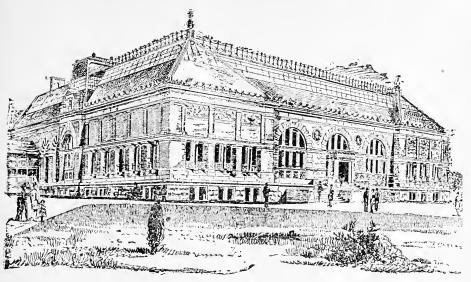

VICTORIA HOTEL.

HIGH BRIDGE—This is the most important structure connected with the Croton Aqueduct, through which is carried the great canal that conducts the water supply of New York City from the Croton River, a distance of over forty miles, to the great receiving reservoir. The bridge crosses the Harlem River, a distance of 1,450 feet; it has eight arches of eighty feet span, and one hundred feet in height, from the river to the lower side. The top of the bridge may be reached by an incline railway. It is crossed by a footpath, and is a point of interest not to be omitted by tourists.

NEW HARLEM BRIDGE—This bridge is a public highway. It crosses the river on a line with 181st Street from Tenth Avenue, and extends to Aqueduct Avenue.

There are two steel arches each 510 feet long. The eastern arch is known as the river arch, as it spans the Harlem from the eastern side to Pier 2. The land arch begins at Pier 2, and extends to Sedgwick Avenue. The length of the bridge is 2,373 feet. The roadway is 50 feet wide, and sidewalks 15 feet each. The arch above the river is $133\frac{1}{2}$ feet above high water, a trifle higher than Brooklyn Bridge. The approaches are finished with stone ornamental work, bronze railings and lamps.

THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART.

JEROME PARK.

The most fashionable race-course in the vicinity of New York. It is reached by the New York and Harlem Railroad from the Grand Central Depot. Fare for the round trip sixty cents.

MT. MORRIS PARK.

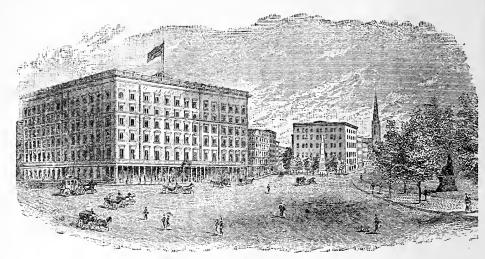

Presents the anomalous appearance of an abrupt hill, with thickly wooded sides, rising from the midst of a plain that has no other hills upon it. It "head's off" the Fifth Avenue at 120th Street, and extends as far north as 124th street, and its area is nearly twenty acres.

RIVERSIDE PARK AND DRIVE

Is an irregular strip of land, running from 72d Street to 130th Street. It is nearly three miles long, and averages 500 feet wide. The Park coaches start from Elevated stations, 9th avenue and 72d Street. The drive is one of the most delightful in the city.

STUYVESANT PARK.

this Park. The ground was presented by the late P. G. Stuyvesant, Esq., to the corporation of the Church.

TOMPKINS SQUARE

Is one of the largest parks of the city. It occupies the area formed by Avenues A and B, and 7th and 10th Streets.

WASHINGTON SQUARE,

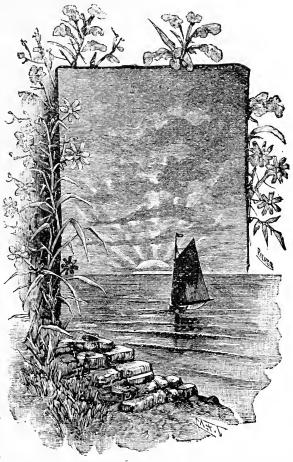

Another great and most effective ornament to the city was formed by laying out the ground formerly occupied as a Potter's Field. The bones were collected in vast trenches, one on each side of the Square, which were inclosed with fences, and planted with trees. For many years this was used for burial purposes, and it is computed that over a hundred thousand bodies have been buried where now assemble for pleasure multitudes of living beings. The Square is surrounded with splendid private houses, and on one side is the University building and Asbury M. E. Church. One-third of the ground comprising the Square was purchased for $80,000, making a gross value of $240,000, devoted to the improvement of this quarter of the city. The Square contains a little over nine acres, and is ornamented with a fountain, statue of Garibaldi and music pavilion.

MISCELLANEOUS,

Astor Library is on Lafayette Place. It was founded by John Jacob Astor, who left by will, in 1848, the sum of $400,000 for its establishment. This was afterward increased by his son, William B. Astor, who added $550,000. John Jacob Astor further increased the aggregate by the sum of $250,000. This library is for consultation, and not for circulation.

CHAMBERS STREET Hospital, or "House of Relief," of the New York Hospital, 160 Chambers Street. Cares for, without charge, in case of accident, etc.

Ludlow Street Jail is situated at the corner of Ludlow Street and Essex Market Place, and was first occupied in June, 1862, taking the place of the noted Eldridge Street Jail. It is built of Philadelphia brick, ornamented with New Jersey free-stone trimmings. The building is built in the form of an L, ninety feet on each street, forty feet deep, and about sixty-five feet high, leaving an angle of about fifty feet square, surrounded by a high wall, for a yard in which the prisoners are permitted to take their daily exercise.

The Tombs—This famous prison was erected in 1838, and is a massive, heavy-looking granite structure in the Egyptian style of architecture. It covers the block between Franklin, Centre, Leonard, and Elm Streets, with entrance on Centre Street. Two courts (Special Sessions and the Tombs Police Court) are held here. Arrested persons waiting to be tried, and convicts waiting to be executed or sent to State Prison, are imprisoned in the Tombs. Many hangings have taken place in this prison. Permits to visit the Tombs are given by the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections, office, Third Avenue, corner 11th Street.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Morgue is situated within the grounds of Bellevue Hospital, at the foot of E. 26th Street. Behind a glass partition are marble slabs on which unknown deceased are placed to await recognition before burial. The bodies are kept three days, and then removed to the dead-house adjoining. Clothing found on the bodies is shown for thirty days, and preserved for one year if not identified. Photographs are taken of the dead, and a record taken of their place of burial.

THE YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION occupies the building No. 7 E. 15th St. It was founded in 1870, and incorporated 1873, for the improvement of the moral, social and spiritual condition of young women. The institution offers to a self-supporting class between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five these educational advantages free:-instruction in writing, phonography, type writing, retouching photo-negatives, coloring photographs, and crayon. There are provided likewise concerts and readings, a circulating library, and reading-room. The employment Bureau is open to teachers, artists, stenographers, type-writers, copyists, clerks, companions, house-keepers, nurses, governesses and seamstresses. The industrial department instructs in machine and hand-sewing. In connection is an order department for all kinds of fine sewing, hand embroidery, crochet work, knitting work and lace-mending, The library contains 7,000 volumes. The reading-room is open daily from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., evening from 7 to 9 P. M.

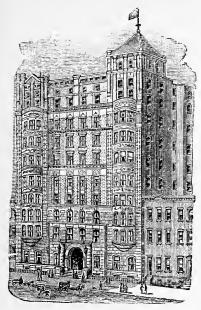

TWELFTH REGIMENT ARMORY.

The U.S. Navy Yard well deserves the notice of visitors. It is situated upon the south side of Wallabout Bay, in the northeast part of Brooklyn. It occupies forty acres of ground, inclosed by a high wall. There are here two large ship-houses for vessels of the largest class, with workshops, and every requisite necessary for an extensive naval depot. A dry dock constructed here cost about two million dollars.

The United States Naval Lyceum, an interesting place, also in the Navy Yard, is a literary institution, formed in 1833, by officers of the navy connected with the port. On the opposite side of the Wallabout, half a mile east of the Navy Yard, is the Marine Hospital, a fine building, erected on a commanding situation, surrounded by upwards of thirty acres of ground.

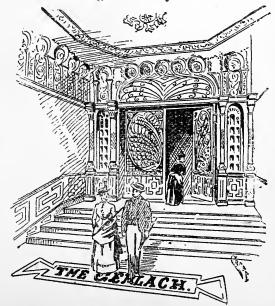

The New West Washington Market is said to be the largest market in the world. It extends from West Street to Eleventh Avenue, and from Gansevoort to Bloomfield Street. Erected at a cost of one million of dollars. It is a group of ten buildings two stories high, 50×175 feet, with a frontage on the main thoroughfare. The structures are simple in design, the material being pressed brick of light brown color with terra-cotta trimmings, heavy iron pillars supporting the fronts. There are 440 stalls, each 9×25 feet, finished in yellow pine, and protected with iron shutters. The rental of each stall is $7 per week.

THE GENERAL THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY of the Protestant Episcopal Church situated on what is called Chelsea Square, between 19th and 20th Streets, and Ninth and Tenth Avenues. It was founded in 1819, and has 6 professors and 100 students, a three years' course and a library of 20,000 volumes. Its group of picturesque buildings occupy the entire block.

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK occupies the large "University Building" in Washington Square, East, for its courses in law, arts, and sciences; and the structure of the Medical College, near the foot of E. 26th Street, for its course in medicine. Charges for tuition are made to those studying law and medicine. The other two courses are free.

Washington Cemetery is on Brooklyn Boulevard, four miles from Hamilton Ferry.

WOODLAWN CEMETERY, at Woodlawn Station, is reached by trains from the Grand Central Depot. It has an area of three hundred and ninety-five acres.

Governor's Island, the first of importance, lies a little more than half a mile south of the Battery. It belongs to the United States, and is devoted to Military purposes. It includes sixty-five acres, upon which are located Fort Columbus and Castle William, erected in 1811, and it is the headquarters of the Department of the Atlantic. The Island is well worth a visit. The war relics in the Museum alone would well repay one. Ferry leaves Battery hourly, free.

Bedloe's Island is situated about a mile and a half from the Battery, and is the site of the Statue of Liberty, the total height of which is 305 feet 11 inches; the length of the fore finger of the right hand is 7 feet, the firger nail about 14 inches long by 10 inches wide, and the nose nearly 4 feet long. The statue is made of repousse copper, the plates being about one-quarter of an inch thick. It was modelled by M. Bartholdi, a French sculptor, and presented by the people of France to the people of this country. The money was raised by popular subscription in France for the Statue, and through the efforts of the New York World, money was raised for the erection of the pedestal. The total cost was about one million of dollars. Ferry leaves pier rear of barge office hourly, fare round trip 25

ELLIS ISLAND is about one and a half miles from the Battery, the site of Fort Gibson, and now used for a magazine.

Just before reaching Staten Island is Robbins Reef Light, and the body of water beyond, between the Island and the New Jersey shore is called the Kill Von Kull.

Staten Island is at that part of the harbor called the Narrows, which divides the harbor into the upper and lower bay. The Island contains 60 square miles, its inhabitants number about forty thousand; it is a pretty place naturally, and its attractions are heightened greatly by late improvments. The ferries land the visitor at St. George's. Here during the summer are gigantic out door entertainments of various kinds, and here also is to be the eastern terminus of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

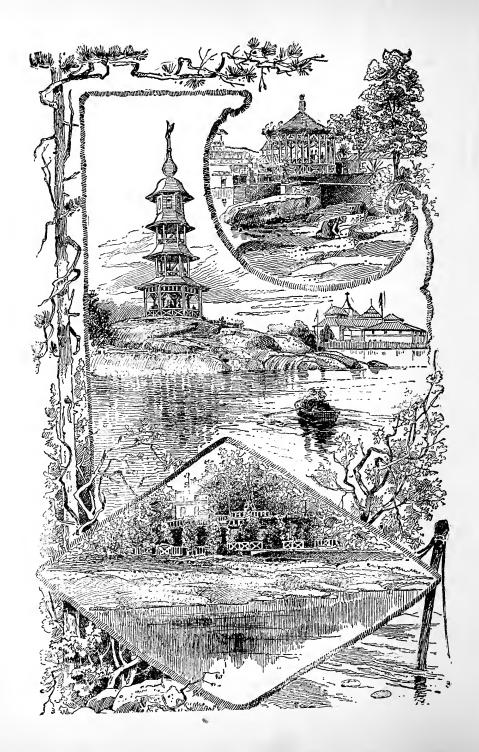

If the visitor would see the beauties of the Island, take the rapid transit train to the left (no extra charge), and stop at Fort Wadsworth Station. A short walk brings us to the fortifications, the strongest on the coast. From the top of the Hill we have a most magnificent view. Looking north can be seen the upper New York Bay; teeming with the finest shipping the world can produce; the Hudson River, with Jersey City, Hoboken, and the Palisades; New York and Brooklyn; the Statue of Liberty and the big big Bridge; these combined make a panorama of almost matchless beauty.

On the opposite side of the Narrows is Fort Lafayette, a brick casemated structure now dismantled, and used for storage, etc. The stone fort on the Long Island shore is Fort Hamilton, (reached by 39th street ferry, foot of Whitehall Street, N. Y., thence by steam cars), and is quite a Sunday resort in summer.

Just around the bend, bordering on Gravesend Bay, is the flourishing little village of Bath. Further along at the point where the High Tower can be seen is Coney Island. Across the bay, the land rising in the dim distance is the Highlands of Navesink, and the low point of land only discernable in very clear weather is Sandy Hook.

Lower quarantine establishments are situated on Hoffman and Swinburne Islands, in almost a direct line with Sandy Hook and the Highlands. The first, Hoffman Island, is about two miles from this point, and is used for the temporary detention of persons arriving in infected vessels. Upon Swinburne Island (a mile beyond), are the Hospitals for Contagious Diseases. Upper quarantine is at Clifton.

The beach of Staten Island is dotted with small hotels. They gather no great crowds, as there are few attractions.

Sailors' Snug Harbor is a very interesting institution on Staten Island, founded about 1800 by a retired sea-captain, by the name of Randall. It gives a home and many comforts to old and disabled seamen. The buildings are numerous, and have very large grounds overlooking the harbor. Some of the most valuable business property in the city is the property of this institution, which has an enormous income.

Coney Island—No one should miss a trip to Coney Island during the season. Sundays are its busiest days. It has been for several years the popular summer resort of all classes from New York and the neighboring cities. The Island is about three miles long. Commencing at the eastern end is the Oriental Hotel, an immense wooden structure, for permanent guests. In the rear (though quite a distance away), is the Firework enclosure. The square building just this side is the Café, and the building fronting the Beach is the bathing Pavilion. Manhattan Beach Hotel is next in importance, and caters more to transients. The immense dining hall will accomodate 3,000 guests. The building contains café, billiards, and everything pertaining to a first class hotel. Gilmore's famous band plays here every day.

Passing to the Marine Railroad (fare 5 cents), a ride of half a mile brings us to Brighton Beach Bathing Pavilion. The Brighton Beach Hotel comes next, and the finely graded lawn in front was but a short time ago its back yard, the sea had washed away about 200 feet in front and nearly all from beneath, obliging the proprietors to move the great building back, which was done by placing railroad tracks and specially constructed cars under the Hotel and drawing it back 600 feet with a number of locomotives. The entertainment here is similar to that at Manhattan. Music by excellent bands, dining on its broad verandas, etc.

One can take the elevated road (fare 5 cents), or open carriages down the Concourse (for the same price), for West Brighton. If on a Sunday the day be rainy, the place takes on a funeral aspect, and its people are all mourners; but if the weather is fine, and the crowd large, it is pandemonium let loose—dime shows, toboggan slides, flying horses, minstrels—in fact everything that a "fakir's" mind can suggest is used to catch the nickels.

The larger hotels set fair tables, and the accommodations are good, but the majority of the restaurants are much inferior to those of New York. Entertainments can be found to suit all tastes. For the more quiet the Observatory, 300 feet high, offers a most charming view of the ocean, the Island and New York Bay. The Iron Piers at which steamers land, provide regular dinners in restaurant style. There are also well managed bathing departments connected with them. The camera obscura is also an interesting place to visit,

The Sea Beach Palace was one of the buildings at the Centennial, and there is always something of interest within its walls, free to the patrons of its road. Adjoining is the enclosure of the Sacred Elephant; he is a huge fellow, and well worth a visit. There are a number of ways to reach the Island; by New York and Sea Beach Road from the Battery, by ferry to Bay Ridge, and thence by train hourly. Or by Iron Steamboat from Pier 1, North River, and various other routes via Brooklyn. See daily papers.

BLACKWELL'S ISLAND contains 120 acres of ground, thoroughly walled around with heavy stone laid in cement. The buildings are substantial and well built, the grounds neat and well kept, and a general appearance pervading it of a well arranged and well managed institution. The buildings of size and importance seen as we advance are, first the Small-pox Hospital, next the Charity Hospital. Then following in succession, the Penitentiary, Warden's Houses, the Almshouses (two in number, one for each sex), the Workhouses or Houses of Correction, the Mad House or Lunatic Asylum, with a number of smaller houses interspersed, which are occupied by keepers, bosses and helpers in this department. A light-house is located on the northern point of the Island.

WARD'S ISLAND on our left, as we pass, containing about 2003 acres. It is especially notable for containing the Emigrant's Refuge and Male Lunatic Asylum. The brick building near the point was formerly the Inebriate Asylum, afterwards used as a Soldier's Home, and now used as the Homeopathic Hospital.

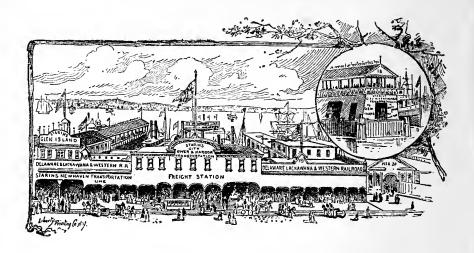

RANDALL'S ISLAND is just north of Ward's Island contain the House of Refuge and a home for people who are mentally incapable of taking care of themselves, but whose care is paid for by their friends. Also an Asylum for Indigent Children, consisting of an Idiotic Asylum, Nursery, House of Refuge, etc., reached by boat from foot of E. 28th Street. Procure a pass from Commissioners of Public Charities and Correction, 3d Avenue and 11th Street.

GLEN ISLAND as a family resort is unsurpassed, and the extent of the its popularity may be imagined from the fact that nearly 800,000 people went to the Island last summer, and a single visit to the place soon convinces one that it is a most charming spot for a day's outing. The attractions and amusements are almost numberless. There are three aquariums, filled with many wonders of the deep. The Zoological Gardens have many attractions in the way of performing bears and monkeys. The Shetland ponies, which are so popular with the children, are a conspicuous feature of the place, and to those who enjoy rowing and sailing every facility may be found here, there being some 200 boats at the boathouse; in addition a number of steam launches which make frequent trips among the five Is-The Grand Café serves dinners of the best, while the clam-bake island will accommodate 1,200 people. Indeed, here is about the only place near New York where a clam bake can be had in the genuine Rhode Island style. The popular "Dairy," too, is abundantly supplied at all times with farinaceous food of all kinds, and the milk and cream is from the Larchmont dairy farm.

Our German cousins will undoubtedly testify that their comforts have been well looked after in the establishing of Little Germany, to which there has been added a half acre. Only imported beers are sold here, and all the delicacies that please the Teutonic taste may be had at reasonable prices. Concerts will be given in the German Watch Tower every day. Glenwood, a natural woods, is a favorite resort with lovers of nature, and Beach Lawn for basket parties, where there is every convenience in the way of tables and benches erected under the spacious shade-giving trees. Tea, coffee and American beer can be purchased here, and every advantage is offered for indulging oneself in true picnic style. Here is also the bathing pavilion, with its 800 separate rooms, and the still-water bathing is of the finest. Concerts are given every afternoon and evening.

Five boats run from New York to the Island on week days, landing at Cortlandt Street, North River; 32d Street, East River, and Jewell's Wharf, Brooklyn, and eight boats on Sunday.

SUMMER EXCURSIONS.

For a few days outing no other city in the world can offer such a variety, or at such low rates. In the earlier part of the season High Bridge Park draws largely. Later, Coney Island is the attraction (see Islands), and the smaller places take the overflow.

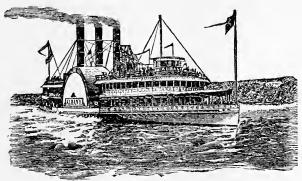

FORT LEE is situated on the west side of the Hudson River. The boat leaves from pier foot Canal Street, touching at 23d Street. The distance is about 10 miles, and the fare round trip 25 cents. The grounds at Fort Lee are provided with all the requirements necessary for picnic or family parties. Close to the pier are bowling alleys, shooting gallery, boat and bathing houses, restaurant and dance hall.

A short distance up the hill is a large, finely appointed hotel, accomodating about 200 guests. Music every afternoon and evening during the season.

The Bluff, as it is called, is the commencement of the Palisades, an inclined railway makes the ascent easy, and at the top will be found a regular "Donnybrook Fair," with music, dancing, merry go-rounds, etc. Basket parties are welcome, and tables furnished them free of charge. Built on the very edge of the Bluff, 350 feet above the river, is the Pavilion, the finest point of observation on the Palisades, and its restaurant provides regular dinners at city prices. Music and dancing every afternoon and evening during the season.

The Palisades are a striking feature of the Hudson River scenery. They form an almost vertical cliff, and extend northward nearly twenty-one miles. The views from various points are singularly beautiful.

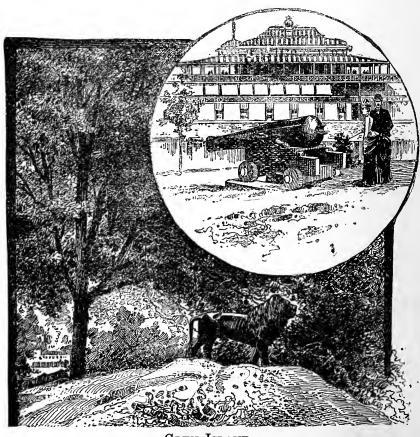

HUDSON RIVER.—Every stranger visiting New York should spend at least one day on the Hudson. Numerous lines advertise one day excursions, generally to Newburg, the fare for the round trip 50 cents, and reach there with one or perhaps two hours to stroll through the quaint old town, but more frequently with only fifteen minutes, and then return to the city, arriving at 9 o'clock or even later, with tired and disgusted passengers. Take your Guide's advice, pay a little more, and receive the comfort that the regular lines afford. The day line between New York and Albany leaves pier foot of Vestry Street, at 8:40 A. M., West 23d Street at 9 A. M., every day except Sunday. The fare to West Point or Newburg (generally with option of returning by rail, is one dollar). At the former place three hours time is given for visiting the United States Military Academy, while at the latter nearly two hours, giving ample time to visit the little "rough stone building" known as the Headquarters of Washington. These boats are always on time, elegantly furnished throughout and provided with a first class band and orchestra. "The Hudson by Daylight," a Guide, is sold on the boats, and contains the best description and map of the river published.

ROCKAWAY BEACH lies between Long Beach and Manhattan Beach, on the Long Island Shore. Reached by the Long Island Railroad, via ferry from foot of E. 34th Street, or James Slip. Fare for the round trip fifty cents. Large steamers carry thousands of people to and from Rockaway at the same fare as the railroad, and afford a pleasant trip by water.

The steamers leave foot of West 23d Street, and pass down the Hudson, rounding the Battery, affording a fine view of Castle Garden and buildings adjacent, up East River to the Brooklyn Bridge, touching at Jewel's wharf, (foot of Fulton Street, Brooklyn), for its Brooklyn patrons, then proceeding down the Bay, passing Governor's Island and the Statue of Liberty, thence along the Long Island shore past the Great Atlantic Docks to Bay Ridge, the terminus of the New York and Sea Beach R. R., to Coney Island. On the right as we pass through the Narrows is Staten Island, with the fortifications known as Fort Wadsworth; on the left is Fort Lafayette, while just back of it is Fort Hamilton. Crossing Gravesend Bay the steamer rounds Coney Island Point, keeping close in shore the entire length of the Island, then heading directly out to sea for about four miles, passing around Coney Island Bar to Rockaway Inlet, the entrance to Jamaica Bay. Barren Island is the only drawback to this beautiful bay. It is occupied by a fertilizer manufactory, and at times is very disagreeable.

The steamer lands at the more thickly settled portion, and a short walk through the only street occupied by numerous hotels, restaurants, shows, beer gardens, etc., brings the excursionist to the Beach. The surf is high and the bathing good. The huge hotel which stands near the beach is said to be the largest in the world; it is 1140 feet long, by 70 feet deep, with an ell at each end 300 feet deep, and contains 1200 rooms.

Jamaica Bay is quite a fishing resort, and a very pretty trip can be made by starting at Brooklyn Bridge, thence by Brooklyn Elevated Road to Alabama Avenue, thence by railroad to Carnarsie (Depot, Howard House, one block from L road), connecting hourly with steamers to Rockaway Beach, a pretty sail among the Islands of about an hour; fare round trip including elevated road, 35 cents.

Long Beach, east of Rockaway, is recommended to those who desire to spend a quiet day by the sea. The hotel accommodations are first class, and the fare 50 cents round trip, reached via Long Island R. R.

OAK POINT AND BOWERY BAY are small resorts on the East River; the entertainment is music and dancing. Reached by boats from Harlem Bridge (3d Avenue). Fare 25 cents.

GLEN ISLAND—Steamers leave hourly from foot of Cortlandt Street; the fare for the excursion is 40 cents, the distance is about 30 miles, through East River, passing the Navy Yard and the various public institutions on Blackwell's, Ward's and Randall's Islands, by Fort Schuyler into the Sound. The Island is a charming, picturesque summer resort, with facilities for boating and bathing and a day spent here will be enjoyed.

Long Branch has long been a famous summer resort. It is about 30 miles from the city, on the Jersey coast, and can be reached via Iron Steamboat Line from the Battery direct to the Iron Pier, by boat and rail via Sandy Hook, by Pennsylvania R. R., or New Jersey Central R. R.

Numberless hotels and cottages dot the shore for miles. The beach is abrupt and by no means firm, very hard to walk upon, and impossible for carriage riding. Ocean Avenue, along the bluff, between the Iron Pier and the West End Hotel is the favorite drive, the fashionable hours are between 4 and 7 P. M. The rates per day at the hotels are from $3 to $5, and are most entirely on the American plan.

South of the "Branch" is ELBERON. It consists chiefly of picturesque cottages and pleasant drives.

Asbury Park, about 7 miles south of Long Branch, is a temperance resort, no liquor being allowed to be sold within its limits. It abounds in hotels and boarding-houses, and the rates are moderate, ranging from $7 per week upwards. The entertainment is chiefly bathing in the surf, boating on Wesley Lake, with music and dancing in the hotels. No trains stop here on Sunday.

Ocean Grove is on the south side of Wesley Lake. Large numbers of Methodists gather together here every summer, and hold camp meetings. The local regulations are extremely strict. The sale of intoxicating liquors, card-playing, Sunday amusements, etc., are entirely suppressed. There are numerous large hotels and boarding-houses, where prices are moderate. Besides the summer residents, many of whom live in tents, there is a permanent population of about 3,000, but in summer nearly 30,000 people congregate here.

to Central Park.

The Boulevard commences at the Circle, junction of 8th Avenue and 59th Street. It has a series of ornamental parks in the centre, making a double roadway.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE commences at West 72d Street, and extends along the bank of the Hudson for nearly three miles. This is a magnificent roadway, well kept, and in time will be the palatial resident quarter of the city. the northern part, on a high elevation commanding a fine view of the Hudson for miles, is the tomb of General U. S. Grant, and just beyond is the Claremont Mansion.

Returning to the Boulevard, the upper portion is dotted with public and private institutions. At 155th Street we pass under the ornamental bridge connecting the two portions of Trinity Church Cemetery.* At 170th Street we may take the King's Bridge Road through the valley, cross the Harlem and return via Central Avenue, Central Bridge, and Lenox Avenue to Central Park, a distance of 12 miles.

BROOKLYN DRIVES.

TAKE Brooklyn Bridge, south drive, thence through Washington and Fulton Streets to Flatbush Avenue, thence to Prospect Park and Ocean Parkway; thence to Coney Island, a distance of about 12 miles. †

THE EASTERN PARKWAY begins at the Plaza at the main entrance of Prospect Park, and is a broad, handsome driveway, extending to Jamaica, L. I. Distance, about 6 miles.

SOUTH BROOKLYN DRIVE. Take 39th Street Ferry, at foot of Whitehall Street, thence to Third Avenue (very rough), to Bay Ridge, to 67th Street, turn to the right three blocks to the shore road, to Fort Hamilton, thence to Bath Beach. Returning via 11th Avenue to Gravesend Avenue to Greenwood Cemetery (tickets for admission of carriages must be procured from office, No. 1 Broadway, N. Y., no charge), to 24th Street, to Third Avenue, to Hamilton Avenue, to Ferry.

STATEN ISLAND has some excellent drives—the country is generally hilly and the views superb. Take Ferry from the Battery.

Ferries from foot of Desbrosses or Christopher From Jersey City. Streets. Proceed direct to the Heights, thence north along the summit to Englewood, returning by Fort Lee Ferry to 130th Street to Boulevard, or St. Nicholas Avenue, to Central Park. Distance about 10 miles.
